6. CITY GOLF

The idea behind the City Golf concept is that instead of playing golf on a golf course, people play golf at locations that lend themselves to it in the city centre of Bilzen. These locations are the holes of the course and together form the touristic heart of Bilzen. In contrast to classical golf, the ball is not hit to a hole in the ground, but to targets that are already in the city, such as statue, bench, flag, ... To increase the challenge, all the scores of the participants are thoroughly noted on a scorecard and the person with the least number of strokes is the winner. In short, one explores the city in a playful, competitive and instructive way.
